

Reckless Speculation about Murder

Barney Doyle

ISBN: 978-1-947521-24-7
Trim Size: 5x8 Trade Paperback
Print Page Count: 212 pages
Print Price: $17.95 USD
Publication Date: May 1, 2020
Genre: True Crime

Author Bio:

Barney Doyle started his law enforcement career in 2006 as a patrol officer for a small town police department. He worked his way up to the Montana Department of Justice, where he investigated felony crimes, including murder, for the Major Case Unit. He has since moved on to a small agency in rural Texas where he investigates a variety of crimes, including the occasional murder. He spends his free time reading and writing about criminal investigations that are none of his business and that have been handled by agencies that don't employ him in any capacity. He has a wife who is too pretty for him, two kids who make him disgustingly proud, and two dogs who refuse to obey lawful commands from a duly sworn police officer. In 2004, he saw the Oscar Mayer Wienermobile at a gas station, but that's a story best left for the sequel.

Reckless Speculation about Murder Barney Doyle

Barney Doyle isn't your average gumshoe private detective.

All right, he is. But what sets him apart from all those other guys is that he wrote this book and they didn't.

Reckless Speculation about Murder is a kinda-serious look at a serious subject. In these pages, you and Barney will examine some of the most infamous unsolved crimes in recent American history. From the murders of JonBenét Ramsey and Kathleen Peterson to the shootings of Tupac Shakur and Biggie Smalls, Barney will take your hand (not literally, that would be weird), lead you through the evidence, and let you decide for yourself who committed these famous atrocities.

So disregard what you thought you knew about these crimes. Fill your coffee cup, turn down the Forensic Files and help Old Barney Doyle take a fresh look at these infamous murders. And if that isn't coffee in your cup, don't worry, your old friend Barney can keep a secret.

Publicity Contact:

Steven W. Booth, Publisher
Genius Book Publishing
31858 Castaic Road, #154
Castaic, CA 91384
818.585.9945
steven@geniusbookpublishing.com
www.GeniusBookPublishing.com

